Smen (from Arabic: سمن or سمنة also called sman, semn, semneh, or sminn) is salted fermented butter, an important cooking ingredient in Middle Eastern cuisine and North African. It is produced using the butter made from the milk of sheep, goats or a combination of the two. The butter is brought to boiling point for about 15 minutes, then skimmed, strained into a ceramic jar called a ...

Leafy greens such as kale are exactly what your body needs right now — for the fiber, nutrients, and also the vitamin C. Romaine lettuce might taste less bitter, but it's not going to do your immune system any favors. Blending the stalks into hummus is a great way to mask the taste while still reaping the benefits.
